A Politice-Religious War.-The misone consequences attending the adoption of extreme measures in healing the wounds of ar country are very forcibly illustrated by the workings of the New Constitution of Missouri. We have not seen a copy of that instrument but we know that it was denounced by Hon. Edward Bates, late Attorney-General of the United States, in a series of able articles, as revosary, tyrannical, and unconstitu that he and many others among the oldest most patriotic, and most loyal men of Missour pposed it as fraught with most mischievou and eerious, if not fatal results to the peace an

Among other evils the effect of the adoption if the New Constitution is to drag into the political arena religion and religious teachers, and thus to light up the fires of a religious warthing to be deprecated by every friend to the o.der, weifare, and unity of the country. We repeat that we have not seen a copy o the instrument, but from Mr. Bates's letters and analysis of it in the New York Tribune from a Miscouri radical, it seems to be unreasonable even to people's thoughts and invading realmi tor. Its results are beginning to appear. Most of the clergy of the State of all denomina e refusing absolutely to take the required oath They declare they cannot take it without per juring their souls, and that they prefer to obey God rather than man. The Baptist State Conrention, the Missouri Methodist Conference, the Presbyterions, the Catholic clergy, and various other religious bodies and religious teachers have declined to take it. We have seen no mention made of the action of the Episcopa clergy with reference to the question, but we ame they do not differ from their brethres of other persuasions. The Paris (Mo.) Mercan just held at that place, and which was very argely attended, there was but one minister disposed to take the convention oath. The consequences will be that the whole clergy of the State of all denominations, with bere and there an exception, will be placed in entagonism to the organic law of the Commonwealth, and unless they discontinue their sa ered functions altogether, each and every on viction, and be lible to a fine of five hundred dollars, and imprisonment in the count We may be told that the refusal of the clergy

says that at the Old School Baptist Association

to take the prescribed outh proves them to be disloyed. That proves too much, and is too sweeping. Nobody wi believe that the ministers and religious teachers of all denomina ti he throughout the State, with only occasion exceptions, are disloval to the Governmen' of ter meterially from the maj rity of their congreg lions in political centiments, and if they are all disloval the probabilities are in favor of the supposition that their friends and supporters are so too. If they are disloyal, the test oath or convention oath, will have a strong tendency to keep them disloyal. The oath, as we under stand it, is rather retrospective than prospective is not the right kind of philosophy to create or on enlightened, statesmanlike philosophy, wors rather of venueance for the past than of regard for the future. It is not the kind of ophy the times demand. It will not co ment the Union together. It will never bring back the erring. It will never do anythis toward burying the tomahswk of gangrene adness and morose alienation. It will nev aid in creating a "more perfect Union" among see of our widely-extended con is not liberal, but narrow and bigoted, not mar-

We protest against anything that drags or had a tendency to drag religion and religious teachers into politics. No Church and State, and no meddling of one with the other. If the clergy of Missourl are disloyal at heart, no test oath as a prere nisite to the performance of their religious duties will make them loyal. When they offer to discharge a political function as oath is proper. But the State cannot touch religious questions unless religion be made a closi for crimes against the decalogue, except to pro tect all denominations, guaranteeing to the ntire "freedom to worship God" according to the dictates of their own consciences

Old Roger Williams, of Phode Island, the piercing-visioned hero of universal toleration put this question of Church and State in a clear light in his day by comparing the State to ship and the various religious demoninations to passengers on board. "If," said he-and we quote from memory-'Christian, Jew, Infide Mohammedan be abcard a vessel and behave themselves, the Captain has no right to inter tere in their worship. But if they or any them attempt to seize the ship's ropes or jurn her out of her course, or excite the crew to mo tiny, thus endangering her safety and the safet of all on board, then the Captain has a righ to interfere and sav, 'Gentlemen, you must not do this."

The Captain has no right to extort an oath o fidelity to him or his vascal as a prerequisite to their performing their religious duties. That's beyond his province. If they propose to enter his service in any capacity, the case becomes radically diff rent. Then he may exact an oath of loyalty When the Missouri clergy go up to the polls to vote a test oath may be put to them in comfollow them into their houses or churches and de-mand such an oath before they can be permitted to preach or pray. That is crossing the b mdary between Church and State, and is opposed to the genius of our institutions. Such a strict smacks too much of that other spirit c ted of the bishop and layman and compelled both to ewear to it under penalty of fire and fagot. The first faint g'immerings of such a spirit in this country cannot be too early met or two sternly frowned out of existence.

It is probable, certain in fact as we think that the constitutionality of the new organic law of Missouri in this particular will be tested In the Supreme Court of the United States. The National Constitution says that "Congre of religion, or prohibing the free exercitareof' Some have so posed that as this prohitition is directed against Congress, the Attates may do what Congress is forbid-den to do. But would not an act inter-fering with, 'prohibiting the free exercise' of religion by a State, contravene that provi io: of the Constitution guaranteeing a "republican form" of government to the several States? What nonsense would it be to say that though Congress shall not interfere with the rights of conscience or the "free exercise" of religion, yet that the States may, and thus "keep the promise to the ear, but break it to the hope." Under such an interpretation any State in the Union might create an Inquisition, and change a free republic into a loody and remor eless despotism without violating the Constitution! TRUSTING THE PROPER.-We have repeatedly said that the surest and readiest mode of restoring peace and good government through out the South is in a magnanimous policy, on the part of the Federal Administration, toward the people of that section; and the re establish ing of civil order should be intrusted to them as far as the public safety will permit. The Provisional Governors, appointed by the President for the rebellious States, are charged simply with an agency through which the task of reorganization by the people may be the more easily performed by them, and as soon as the people are enabled, through the ballot-box, to act directly for themselves, the Provisional Governorships will be displaced by the regular civil organization of the States. Federal military authority should be maintained in the South only so long as the actual necescities of the situation may require it, and we believe it will be withdrawn whenever the people there shall demonstrate their purpose to live in peace and harmony with the Union. Buch we are sure is the enlightened view npon which is based the President's restoration policy, and we are fully sustained in this conviction by the letter which President Johnconviction by the letter which President Johnson has addressed to Governor Sharkey, of Miaselship, indorsing a recent proclamation of the latter, authorizing a force of citizen militis to be raised in each county to enforce the civil anthority of the State. When Governor Sharkey sued his proclamation, General Slocum, the military commandant of Mississippi, declared it aull and void, but the War Department at Washington revoked General Slocum's order and sustained the proclamation of Governor Sharkey. President Johnson, in view of the conflict between the two anthorities, addressed the following letter to the Governor, which will be read with gratification by all who favor the enperiority of civil over military law. The Pres-county a force of citizen militia to preserve or der and enforce the civil anthorities of the State and of the United States, which would enable raw, to a great extent, the force the State, thereby reducing the enormo om the State, thereby reducing the enormous rense of the Government. If there was any danger from an organization the chizens for the purpose indicated, the litary are there to suppress, on the first aparance, any move insurrectionary in its charcer. One great object is to induce the people come for ward in the defense of the State and deral Governments. General Washington clared that the people, or the militia, was the modern of the Constitution, or the arm of the ided States, and, as soon as his practicable, e origins' design of the Government onld be retunned under the principle. The great charter of freedom, handed was to the people by the founders of the public. The pcople must be trusted with an Government, and if trusted, my opinion hat they will act in good faith, and restore fromer constitutional relations with all States composing the Union. The main obtheir former constitutional reasons with an the States composing the Union. The main object of Mejor-General Carl Schurz's mission to the South was to sid as much as possible, in carrying out the policy adopted by the Government for restoring the States to their former restoring the the Exchange Concentrated. ment for restoring the States to their former re-lations with the Federal Government. It is hoped that such aid has been given. The proc-lemation authorizing the restoration of State covernments requires the military to aid the Provisional Governor in the performance of his dutics as prescribed in the proclamation, and in no manner to throw impediments in the way of the consummation of the object of his ap-pointment, at least without advising the Gov-ernment of the intended interference. (Signed)

ANDREW JOHNSON.

It is seen from the foregoing that President obuson is disposed to trust the people with their government, believing, as he does, that, if trusted, "they will act in good faith and restore their former constitutional relations with the Federal Government." The policy of the present Administration is to re-establish the Union in the hearts of the masses, North and South and surely such is the only basis upon which can enduringly rest. The letter of the President to Governor Sharkey presents a statesmanlike view of the great work of restoration, and will send good cheer throughout the South. I res the speedy removal of military pow from the Southern States and the complete re blishment of peace and civil law in its stead The people of the South, if trusted, will, we verily believe, "act in good faith and restore their former constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union."

Ex-Governor Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, as addressed to General Grant an elaborate at teal in behalf of himself and with a view to the restoration of his property which is now held by the mi tary authorities. The document is said to (mbrace thirty-six pages of large foolsrap paper, closely written. In the course of the letter the Governor says: "So far from my eing opposed to the name of freedman, indicating the condition of slaves freed by the war, the chief consolation I have in the resu of the war is that African slavery is forever abclished; that not only the slaves are in fact freed from bendage, but that I am freed from them." He ays further: "Long before the war ended. I had definitely made up my mind actively to advocate emancipation throughout the South. I had determined, that, if I could belp it, my descendants should never be subjected to the humiliation I had been subjected to by the weakness, if not the wickedness of Hon Henry S. Foole, having returned from xile to his home at Nashville, Tenn., has addressed a letter to the editor of the Nashvilie Dispatch, in which he denies the charge of the Cincinnati Enquirer that his recent letter to Hon A O. P. Nicholson, in favor of negro suffrage, was wiltien to secure his pardon by President John scn. Mr. Foote declares that at the time of writing that letter he thought it blighly probable that the views expressed in it would diminish his chances of release, and that it was the result of careful and laborious reflection upon the subject discussed.
